

Short Author Biography

Lilo Abernathy was born and raised in the Chicago suburbs. After studying business at DePaul University, she moved to North Carolina to enjoy the Smokies. She's currently developing the third book of the much loved Bluebell Kildare series. When not writing or busy with her day job, Lilo can be found spending time with her family and friends or engaged in her various social change activities.